FIX THE FOX

The fox named these animals with total confidence. Write what each one really is. One of the four is secretly correct. He does not know which.

THE FOX SAYS…

BIRD

It has wings and it's flying, so obviously it's a bird.

It's really a _____

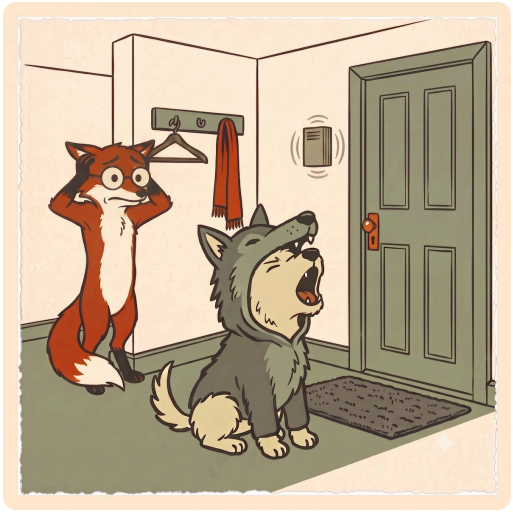

THE FOX SAYS…

HORSE

Don't ask me, it's called a seaHORSE.

It's really a _____

THE FOX SAYS…

WOLF

This wolf howls at doorbells.

It's really a _____

THE FOX SAYS…

UNICORN

Horn on the head, magic in the heart, just a little heavy.

It's really a _____

From U Is for Unicorn, Obviously by Wes Rissell · Coming to Kickstarter in 2027

© 2026 Wes Rissell

Prototype pictures made with AI tools. The real book gets a human illustrator.

NOW YOU BE THE FOX

Draw any animal. Then give it the wrong name, and an excuse the fox would be proud of.

DRAW IT HERE

THE WRONG NAME

This is obviously a _____

YOUR EXCUSE (SAY IT LIKE YOU MEAN IT)

Example: a dog drawn with a paper beak. "This is obviously a DUCK. It has a beak. The barking is a phase."

From U Is for Unicorn, Obviously by Wes Rissell · Coming to Kickstarter in 2027
© 2026 Wes Rissell
Prototype pictures made with AI tools. The real book gets a human illustrator.